As a driver, you will be home every day! Drivers load their own trucks and at times actually pull the order by using our scanning software that was created specifically for the corrugated industry. When pulling orders it would be your responsibility to keep the aisles clean of strapping and materials. Also, it is important to keep the racks organized by placing like products together and making sure product is fully on the rack. It is important to pay attention to detail to ensure orders are correctly pulled and the correct product is delivered. Comparing product to the Midwest delivery receipt is a must. You would not only be delivering product but putting product away for VMI (vendor managed inventory) customers. You will build a relationship with our customers so they know they are important to Midwest. You would be the face of Midwest to many of our customers.

The above is only an overview of the duties, other duties may be expected.
